

NAME THE

FROM HYPE TO PROOF.

Name The Game transforms athlete valuation from opinion-driven to evidence-supported — so every NIL deal starts with proof.

BUILT BY AN NCAA CHAMPION GYMNASTICS COACH — ENGINEER,
FILMMAKER, ATHLETE

THE FOUNDER

Every side of sport taught one lesson.

Athlete. Coach. Engineer. Filmmaker. I served on the Arizona State staff that won the NCAA men's gymnastics national championship — a title built on thousands of hours of documented work nobody ever saw.

That championship taught the lesson NIL now needs: talent is everywhere, proof is rare. Name The Game exists so that when money meets an athlete, the evidence is already on the table.

THE PROBLEM

NIL pays on hype, not proof.

QUESTIONS THAT GO UNASKED IN A TYPICAL NIL DEAL — NTG FIELD REVIEW, ILLUSTRATIVE

A brand pays a collective. The collective pays the athlete. Value is set by hype and timing.

Why this athlete? How was the value set? Is the data verified? Are guardian permissions complete?

BRAND → COLLECTIVE → MONEY → ATHLETE

THE APPRAISAL TEST

You wouldn't buy a house without an appraisal.

Today an NIL offer can sound like:

"I'll pay half a million for the house."

No inspection. No comparable sales.

No verified condition.

An appraisal doesn't replace the sale

— it informs it: condition, comps, renovations, neighborhood. Athlete

Market Cap does the same for an athlete.

Every AMC number rides on HUGS ID: who created each record, who verified it, who owns it, who may use it, and proof nothing changed.

SOX protects financial truth. HIPAA, medical privacy. SAG-AFTRA, likeness and consent. HUGS ID protects the evidence behind every decision.
